Information Augusta May Collect from You

Augusta may collect and process the following personal information about you:

- Information provided by you if you use our website to register or to subscribe to our service or requesting further services from us.
- If you contact Augusta, we may keep a record of that correspondence.
- Augusta may ask you to complete surveys for research purposes although you do not have to respond to them.
- If you use our website, Augusta may collect information about your computer including your IP address and browser type. This is statistical data about our users browsing action and patterns and does not identify any individual. To the extent that this information can be considered to be personal information, it is used solely for the purposes of administering our website and is not disclosed for any other purpose except as described in this website.

- If you use our website, Augusta may obtain information about your general internet usage by using a cookie file stored on the hard drive of your computer to improve the personalized service of our website. You may refuse to accept these cookies, however if you select this setting, it may affect your usage of the website.

Uses of Your Personal Information

Augusta may use personal information held about you in the following ways:

- To ensure that contents in the website are presented in the most effective manner for you and your computer.
- To provide you with information you request from Augusta.
- To notify you about changes to our service.

Disclosure of Information

Augusta may disclose your personal information to any of its subsidiary companies as defined in the Canadian Business Corporations Act.

Augusta will not sell, share, transfer or rent your personal information for secondary purposes.

Augusta may disclose your personal information to third parties:

- In the event Augusta sells or buys a new business or assets, in which case Augusta may disclose your personal information to the prospective seller or buyer where it is reasonably required for the due diligence process or for the closure of the transaction.
- If Augusta is under a duty to disclose or share your personal information under a legal obligation, in order to enforce or apply its contractual agreements or without your consent pursuant to any of the exceptions in the applicable privacy legislation.

Storage of Your Personal Information

Augusta takes all steps reasonably necessary to ensure that your data is treated securely in accordance with this Privacy Policy and applicable privacy legislation.

Your Rights

You have the right to access information held about you in accordance with applicable privacy legislation. You may also request that we correct personal information that we hold about you subject to applicable privacy legislation.

Changes to our Website Privacy Policy

Any changes Augusta may make in the future will be posted on our website and where appropriate notified to you by e-mail.
